Document Description : This 59-page document consists of a fax cover sheet, a cover sheet indicating the classification of the attached documents, and two classified draft legal opinions from the Department of Justice Office of Legal Counsel to the CIA Acting General Counsel. The legal opinions provide legal analysis and advice at the request of, and based on facts provided by, the CIA. The document is dated April 8, 2005 and bears the classification TOP SECRET//SCI.

The document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1), (b)(3), and (b)(5). This document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

The document is also exempt from disclosure by exemption (b)(3) pursuant to Section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947. Information about CIA official titles, internal organizational data, names, employee numbers, employee telephone numbers, functions, and titles or other organizational identifiers of CIA components is also withheld under (b)(3) pursuant to Section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949.

The document is also exempt pursuant to exemption (b)(5). The draft opinion consists of confidential legal advice and analysis provided to the CIA by DOJ OLC, and was based upon facts provided by the CIA. The document is therefore withheld pursuant to the attorney-client communication privilege. In addition, the legal opinions were prepared by attorneys in contemplation of potential litigation and/or administrative proceedings, and the document is therefore withheld in full pursuant to the attorney work-product privilege. Finally, the legal opinions are marked "DRAFT" and therefore contain preliminary impressions, analysis, and recommendations as to what the final product should be. Moreover, because the OLC legal opinion was requested and prepared in the course of internal governmental deliberations, and for the purpose of providing advice to decisionmakers with respect to a particular policy issue, the document is also properly withheld in full pursuant to the deliberative process privilege .

There is no meaningful, reasonably segregable portion of the document that can be released.

The document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). This document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

In addition, the four-page memorandum considers options and recommendations by the CIA. The document is therefore also properly withheld in full pursuant to the deliberative process privilege.

This document reflects information or recommendations authored or solicited and received by the President's senior advisors in connection with a decision, or potential decision, to be made by the President. The document is therefore properly withheld in full pursuant to the presidential communications privilege.

Finally, the routing sheet contained within the document is withheld in full pursuant to exemption (b)(2) and (b)(3), as it was created solely pursuant to internal CIA administrative practices and consisting of administrative and organizational information.

There is no meaningful, reasonably segregable portion of the document that can be released.

Document Description :

Document Description : This 39-page document consists of a fax cover sheet, a cover sheet indicating the classification of the attached document, and a classified draft legal opinion from the Department of Justice Office of Legal Counsel to the CIA Acting General Counsel. The legal opinion provides legal analysis and advice prepared at the request of, and based on facts provided by, the CIA. The draft legal opinion is dated April 26, 2006 and bears the classification TOP SECRET//SCI.

The document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1), (b)(3), and (b)(5). This document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

The document is also exempt pursuant to exemption (b)(5). The legal opinion is a draft and contains confidential legal advice and analysis prepared at the request of, and based on facts provided by, the CIA. The document is therefore withheld pursuant to the attorney-client communication privilege. In addition, the legal opinion was prepared by attorneys in contemplation of potential litigation and/or administrative proceedings, and the document is therefore withheld in full pursuant to the attorney work-product privilege. Finally, the legal opinion is marked "DRAFT" and therefore contains preliminary impressions, analysis, and recommendations as to what the final product should be. Moreover, the OLC legal opinion was requested in the course of internal governmental deliberations, and for the purpose of providing advice to decisionmakers with respect to a particular policy issue. The document is therefore also properly withheld in full pursuant to the deliberative process privilege.

Document Description : This 4-page memorandum is a classified draft legal opinion from the Department of Justice Office of Legal Counsel to the CIA Senior Deputy General Counsel. The legal opinion provides legal analysis and advice prepared at the request of, and based on facts provided by, the CIA. The memorandum is a draft dated January, 2006, has handwritten notes, and bears the classification TOP SECRET//SCI.

The document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1), (b)(3), and (b)(5). This document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

The document is also exempt pursuant to exemption (b)(5). The legal opinion is a draft and contains confidential legal advice and analysis prepared at the request of, and based on facts provided by, the CIA. The document is therefore withheld pursuant to the attorney-client communication privilege. In addition, the legal opinion was prepared by attorneys in contemplation of potential litigation and/or administrative proceedings, and the document is therefore withheld in full pursuant to the attorney work-product privilege. Finally, the legal opinion is marked "DRAFT" and therefore contains preliminary impressions, analysis, and recommendations as to what the final product should be. The legal opinion contains handwritten notes revealing questions and edits to the opinion, thereby revealing internal deliberations of government officials. Moreover, the OLC legal opinion was requested in the course of internal governmental deliberations, and for the purpose of providing advice to decisionmakers with respect to a particular policy issue. The document is therefore also properly withheld in full pursuant to the deliberative process privilege.

There is no meaningful, reasonably segregable portion of the document that can be released.

The document is also exempt pursuant to exemption (b)(5). The legal opinion is a draft and contains confidential legal advice and analysis prepared at the request of, and based on facts provided by, the CIA. The document is therefore withheld pursuant to the attorney-client communication privilege. In addition, the legal opinion was prepared by attorneys in contemplation of potential litigation and/or administrative proceedings, and the document is therefore withheld in full pursuant to the attorney work-product privilege. Finally, the legal opinion is marked "DRAFT" and therefore contains preliminary impressions, analysis, and recommendations as to what the final product should be. The legal opinion contains handwritten notes revealing questions and edits to the opinion, thereby revealing internal deliberations of government officials. Moreover, the OLC legal opinion was requested in the course of internal

Document Description : This 23-page document consists of an internal CIA routing slip, a cover sheet indicating the classification of the attached memorandum, and a 21-page draft memorandum (including attachments) to senior members of the executive branch. The memorandum proposes designations according to written orders signed by the President. The document is dated April 19, 2005 and bears the classification TOP SECRET//SCI.

The document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1), (b)(3), and (b)(5). This document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

The document is also exempt pursuant to exemption (b)(5). The memorandum is a draft, as indicated by the cover routing slip, which solicits comments and concurrence within the CIA. Because the memorandum is a draft, it contains preliminary impressions, analysis, and recommendations as to what the final product should be. The document is therefore also properly withheld in full pursuant to the deliberative process privilege.

This document reflects information or recommendations authored or solicited and received by the President's senior advisors in connection with a decision, or potential decision, to be made by the President. The document is therefore properly withheld in full pursuant to the presidential communications privilege.

There is no meaningful, reasonably segregable portion of the document that can be released.

Document Description : This two-page document is a memorandum for the record prepared by the Acting Director of Central Intelligence and is dated September 13, 2004. The memorandum discusses policy decisions made by members of the executive branch. The memorandum bears the classification TOP SECRET//SCI.

The document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). This document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

The document is also exempt from disclosure by exemption (b)(3) pursuant to Section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947.

Portions of this document are also exempt pursuant to exemption (b)(5). The memorandum discusses policy issues under consideration within the executive branch, and includes analysis and recommendations by high-level government officials. It therefore reveals internal deliberations of government officials, which are properly withheld under the deliberative process privilege.

This document reflects information or recommendations authored or solicited and received by the President's senior advisors in connection with a decision, or potential decision, to be made by the President. The document is therefore properly withheld in full pursuant to the presidential communications privilege.

Document Description : This eight-page document consists of a two cover sheets indicating the classification of the attached documents, a one-page internal CIA routing slip, a two-page memorandum from the CIA inspector general to the Director of Central Intelligence, a two-page letter to the Department of Justice from the CIA Inspector General, and a one-page distribution slip. The memorandum and letter present facts and analysis regarding the Inspector General's review of a particular event. The document is dated October 27, 2004 and bears the classification TOP SECRET//SCI.

The document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1), (b)(3), and (b)(5). This document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

The document is also exempt from disclosure by exemption (b)(3) pursuant to Section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947. Information about CIA official titles, internal organizational data, names, employee numbers, employee telephone numbers, functions, and titles or other organizational identifiers of CIA components is also withheld under (b)(3) pursuant to Section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949.

The document is also exempt pursuant to exemption (b)(5). The memorandum and letter refer to legal analysis previously provided by the CIA Office of General Counsel, and that information is therefore withheld pursuant to the attorney-client privilege. In addition, the legal analysis was prepared by attorneys in the Office of General Counsel in contemplation of potential litigation and/or administrative proceedings, and is therefore withheld pursuant to the attorney work product privilege. In addition, the letter contains the thoughts, mental impressions, and analysis of DOJ attorneys prepared in contemplation of potential litigation and/or administrative proceedings, and the document is therefore withheld in full pursuant to the attorney work-product privilege. The letter also reveals the internal deliberations of the executive branch regarding certain matters. It is therefore withheld in full pursuant to the deliberative process privilege.

Moreover, this document refers to information pertaining to an ongoing criminal investigation by a federal law enforcement agency. As the information contained in the document is still the subject of a pending law enforcement investigation, and the release of this information could reasonably be expected to interfere with that investigation, that portion of the document is further withheld pursuant to exemption b(7)(a).

Finally, the distribution slip contained within the document is withheld in full pursuant to exemption (b)(2) and (b)(3), as it represents a document solely created pursuant to internal CIA administrative practices and consisting of administrative and organizational information.

There is no meaningful, reasonably segregable portion of the document that can be released.

Document Description :

This 32-page document consists of a fax cover sheet and a classified draft legal opinion from the Department of Justice Office of Legal Counsel to the CIA Office of General Counsel. The legal opinion provides legal analysis and advice based on facts provided by the CIA. The document is dated September 27, 2004 and bears the classification TOP SECRET//SCI.

The document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1), (b)(3), and (b)(5). This document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

The document is also exempt from disclosure by exemption (b)(3) pursuant to Section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947. Information about CIA official titles, internal organizational data, names, employee numbers, employee telephone numbers, functions, and titles or other organizational identifiers of CIA components is also withheld under (b)(3) pursuant to Section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949.

The document is also exempt pursuant to exemption (b)(5). The legal opinion is a draft and contains legal analysis and advice in response to a request from the CIA and based upon facts provided by the CIA. The document is therefore withheld pursuant to the attorney-client communication privilege. In addition, the legal opinion was prepared by attorneys in contemplation of potential litigation and/or administrative proceedings, and the document is therefore withheld in full pursuant to the attorney work-product privilege. Finally, the legal opinion is marked "DRAFT" and therefore contains preliminary impressions, analysis, and recommendations as to what the final product should be. Moreover, the OLC legal opinion was requested in the course of internal governmental deliberations, and for the purpose of providing advice to decisionmakers with respect to a particular policy issue. The document is therefore also properly withheld in full pursuant to the deliberative process privilege.

Document Description: This eight-page document consists of a cover sheet indicating the classification of the attached document and a draft seven-page memorandum of agreement between the CIA and the Department of Defense. The agreement outlines procedures to be used going forward in a specific context. The agreement provides facts, analysis and conclusions. The agreement is in draft indicating it was revised on July 2, 2006 and bears the classification TOP SECRET//SCI.

The document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1), (b)(3), and (b)(5). This document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

The document is also exempt from disclosure by exemption (b)(3) pursuant to Section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947.

The document is also exempt pursuant to exemption (b)(5). In addition, the memorandum is a draft and in several instances has italicized text indicating the need for additional information and that several issues were under discussion as of the time of the draft. Because the memorandum is a draft, it contains preliminary impressions, analysis, recommendations as to what the final product should be, and would reveal the internal deliberations of government officials. The document is therefore also properly withheld in full pursuant to the deliberative process privilege. Portions of the document also contain legal advice and analysis and are therefore withheld pursuant to the attorney-client privilege.

There is no meaningful, reasonably segregable portion of the document that can be released.

Document Description: This two-page document consists of a one-page memorandum from the Acting Director of Central Intelligence to the Acting General Counsel and the Deputy Director of Operations, and a one-page internal routing slip. The memorandum responds to a report from the CIA Inspector General. The internal routing slip also contains handwritten notations referring to the matter discussed in the memorandum. The document is dated September 15, 2004 and bears the classification TOP SECRET//SCI.

The document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). This document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

Finally, the routing slip contained within the document is withheld in full pursuant to exemption (b)(2) and (b)(3), as it represents a document solely created pursuant to internal CIA administrative practices and consisting of administrative and organizational information.

There is no meaningful, reasonably segregable portion of the document that can be released.

Document Description : This 11-page document consists of a one-page internal CIA routing slip, a fax cover sheet, a one-page cover sheet indicating the classification of the attached document, and an eight-page memorandum for the record. The memorandum for the record discusses a recent executive branch meeting at which a particular set of issues were discussed and decisions were made. The document is dated August 18, 2006 and bears the classification TOP SECRET//SCI.

The document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). This document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

In addition, the internal CIA routing slip contained within the document is withheld in full pursuant to exemption (b)(2) and (b)(3), as it represents a document solely created pursuant to internal CIA administrative practices and consisting of administrative and organizational information.

Portions of this document are also exempt pursuant to exemption (b)(5). The memorandum discusses policy issues under consideration within the executive branch, and includes analysis and recommendations by high-level government officials. It therefore reveals internal deliberations of government officials, which are properly withheld under the deliberative process privilege.

This document reflects information or recommendations authored or solicited and received by the President's senior advisors in connection with a decision, or potential decision, to be made by the President. The document is therefore properly withheld in full pursuant to the presidential communications privilege.

There is no meaningful, reasonably segregable portion of the document that can be released.

Document Description : This 46-page document is a classified draft legal opinion from the Department of Justice Office of Legal Counsel to the CIA Office of General Counsel. The legal opinion provides legal analysis and advice prepared at the request of, and based on facts provided by, the CIA. The document is dated November 13, 2004 and bears the classification TOP SECRET//SCI.

The document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1), (b)(3), and (b)(5). This document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

The document is also exempt from disclosure by exemption (b)(3) pursuant to Section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947.

The document is also exempt pursuant to exemption (b)(5). The legal opinion is a draft and contains legal analysis and advice in response to a request from the CIA and based upon facts provided by the CIA. The document is therefore withheld pursuant to the attorney-client communication privilege. In addition, the legal opinion was prepared by attorneys in contemplation of potential litigation and/or administrative proceedings, and the document is therefore withheld in full pursuant to the attorney work-product privilege. Finally, the legal opinion is marked "DRAFT" and therefore contains preliminary impressions, analysis, and recommendations as to what the final product should be. In addition, the document contains advice regarding actions to be taken by other government agencies. Moreover, the OLC legal opinion was requested in the course of internal governmental deliberations, and for the purpose of providing advice to decisionmakers with respect to a particular policy issue. The document is therefore also properly withheld in full pursuant to the deliberative process privilege.

There is no meaningful, reasonably segregable portion of the document that can be released.

This document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1), (b)(3), and (b)(5).

The document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

The document is exempt in its entirety pursuant to exemption (b)(5). The document discusses policy issues under consideration within the executive branch, and includes analysis and recommendations by multiple parties. It therefore reveals internal deliberations of government officials, which are properly withheld under the deliberative process privilege. In addition, the document was prepared by attorneys in contemplation of potential litigation and/or administrative proceedings, and the document is therefore withheld in full pursuant to the attorney work-product privilege.

There is no meaningful, reasonably segregable portion of the document that can be released.

This document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1), (b)(2), (b)(3), and (b)(5).

The document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

The document is also exempt from disclosure by exemption (b)(3) pursuant to Section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947. Information about CIA official titles, internal organizational data, names, employee numbers, employee telephone numbers, functions, and titles or other organizational identifiers of CIA components is also withheld under (b)(3) pursuant to Section 6 of the Central Intelligence Act of 1949.

The email and memorandum within the document are exempt pursuant to exemption (b)(5). The email and memorandum discuss policy issues under consideration within the executive branch, and includes analysis and recommendations from the CIA. It therefore reveals internal deliberations of government officials, which are properly withheld under the deliberative process privilege. The document also contains legal analysis, advice, and conclusions based upon facts contained within the document. The document is therefore withheld pursuant to the attorney-client communication privilege. In addition, the document was prepared by attorneys in contemplation of potential litigation and/or administrative proceedings, and the document is therefore withheld in full pursuant to the attorney work-product privilege.

There is no meaningful, reasonably segregable portion of the document that can be released.

Document Description : This document is a one-page email train concerning a particular issue. The document is dated January 28, 2005 and bears the classification TOP SECRET//SCI.

This document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3).

The document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

The document is also exempt from disclosure by exemption (b)(3) pursuant to Section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947. Information about CIA official titles, internal organizational data, names, employee numbers, employee telephone numbers, functions, and titles or other organizational identifiers of CIA components is also withheld under (b)(3) pursuant to Section 6 of the Central Intelligence Act of 1949.

In addition, the document contains legal advice and analysis and is therefore withheld pursuant to the attorney-client privilege.

There is no meaningful, reasonably segregable portion of the document that can be released.

Document Description : This document is a two-page email train summarizing a recent meeting. The document is dated February 2, 2005 and bears the classification TOP SECRET//SCI.

This document is withheld in its entirety based on FOIA exemptions (b)(1), (b)(3), and (b)(5).

The document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure by exemption (b)(1) because it would reveal intelligence sources and methods, as well as foreign activities of the United States government, whose disclosure reasonably could be expected to cause exceptionally grave damage to the national security.

Information about CIA official titles, internal organizational data, names, employee numbers, employee telephone numbers, functions, and titles or other organizational identifiers of CIA components is also withheld under (b)(3) pursuant to Section 6 of the Central Intelligence Act of 1949.

The document is also exempt in its entirety pursuant to exemption (b)(5). The email discusses a policy issue under consideration within the executive branch, and outlines the recommendations and proposals of the meeting participants. This information therefore reveals internal deliberations of government officials, which are properly withheld under the deliberative process privilege.

The distribution information is withheld on the basis of exemptions b(1), b(2), and b(3). The first and last pages contain internal distribution information such as filing identifiers, routing codes, handling instructions, origination markings, and other internal administrative information which is protected from disclosure by exemption b(2). In addition, some of these codes would disclose information such as internal organizational data, the location of CIA facilities overseas, and other information that is properly withheld under exemptions b(1) and b(3), as described more fully below.

The entire document, including some of the administrative information described above, is also withheld on the basis of exemption b(1). This document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of Executive Order 12958, and is protected from disclosure because it would tend to reveal intelligence activities and methods, as well as foreign relations and foreign activities of the United States Government. Disclosure of this information would reasonably be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. In particular, the document tends to reveal certain intelligence methods and activities. The document also reveals CIA cryptonyms and foreign activities of the CIA. Disclosure of this information would reveal information that is currently and properly classified.

For similar reasons, this document is exempt from disclosure under exemption b(3) pursuant to Section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947. In addition, this document contains information about CIA official titles, internal organizational data, functions, and names that are properly withheld under exemption b(3), pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949.

In addition, the cable includes policy options, analysis, and recommendations of field officers to headquarters regarding specific policies. The document is therefore also properly withheld in full pursuant to the deliberative process privilege.

There is no meaningful, reasonably segregable portion of the document that can be released.

Document Description : This 3-page document is a NCS cable, dated August 3, 2004, and it bears the classification mark TOP SECRET. This cable consists of a half page of distribution information and two pages of text. This document is withheld in full based on exemptions b(1), b(2), b(3), and b(5).

The distribution information is withheld on the basis of exemptions b(1), b(2), and b(3). The first and last pages contain internal distribution information such as filing identifiers, routing codes, handling instructions, origination markings, and other internal administrative information which is protected from disclosure by exemption b(2). In addition, some of these codes would disclose information such as internal organizational data and other information that is properly withheld under exemptions b(1) and b(3), as described more fully below.

The entire document, including some of the administrative information described above, is also withheld on the basis of exemption b(1). Disclosure of this information would reveal information that is currently and properly classified.

For similar reasons, this document is exempt from disclosure under exemption b(3) pursuant to Section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947. In addition, this document contains information about CIA official titles, internal organizational data, functions, and names that are properly withheld under exemption b(3), pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949.

Finally, the document is also exempt pursuant to exemption (b)(5). The cable contains confidential legal advice and analysis provided to the CIA by DOJ attorneys based on facts provided to DOJ by CIA, and is therefore withheld in part pursuant to the attorney-client privilege. In addition, the legal advice contained in the cable was provided by attorneys in contemplation of potential litigation and/or administrative proceedings, and the document is therefore withheld pursuant to the attorney work product privilege.

There is no meaningful, reasonably segregable portion of the document that can be released.
