

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

JEREMY BIGWOOD,)
)
Plaintiff,)
)
v.)	Civil Action No. 1:11-cv-00602-KBJ
)	The Honorable Ketanji Brown Jackson
UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF) DEFENSE and CENTRAL) INTELLIGENCE AGENCY,)
)
Defendants.)

DEFENDANT’S VAUGHN INDEX

Pursuant to the Court’s September 8, 2014 Order, the United States Department of Defense hereby submits its supplemental Vaughn Index. The various changes between the attached document and the Vaughn Index filed with the defendants’ motion for summary judgment on January 28, 2014 (ECF No. 25-5), are briefly set forth below.

- The “Partial Denial/Full Denial/Full Release” column has been replaced with a column entitled “Exemptions Claimed.” This column lists all of the particular exemptions applied to a particular document. Where a document was released in full, the “Exemptions Claimed” column notes that no exemptions were applied. The exemptions cited for each document in the “Exemptions Claimed” column are based on the descriptions contained in the column previously titled as “Declaration.”
- The column previously titled “Declaration” is now titled as “Description.”
- In the “Description” column, the basis for the Department of Defense’s application of the deliberative process privilege of Exemption 5 has been expanded based upon the description of the material in defendants' summary judgment brief (ECF No. 25) and the Bloom Declaration (ECF No. 25-2).

- Also in the "Description" column, the basis for the Department of Defense's application of Exemption 7E has been expanded based upon the description of the material in defendants' summary judgment brief (ECF No. 25) and the Bloom Declaration (ECF No. 25-2).
- The Department of Defense has included an "Index of FOIA Exemptions Applied" after the document-by-document index, which is organized by exemption and lists the documents over which a particular exemption was claimed.

Dated: September 22, 2014

Respectfully Submitted,

JOYCE R. BRANDA
Acting Assistant Attorney General

RONALD C. MACHEN JR.
United States Attorney
District of Columbia

ELIZABETH J. SHAPIRO
Deputy Director, Federal Programs Branch

/s/Thomas D. Zimpleman
THOMAS D. ZIMPLEMAN
Illinois Bar No. 6298040
Trial Attorney
United States Department of Justice
Civil Division, Federal Programs Branch
20 Massachusetts Ave. NW
Washington, DC 20001
Tel: (202) 514-3346
Fax: (202) 616-8470
thomas.d.zimpleman@usdoj.gov

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 1-2	Situation Report [hereinafter SITREP]	Military Group [hereinafter MILGRP] MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	29-Jun-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	United States Southern Command [hereinafter SOUTHCOM]		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 3-4	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	30-Jun-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 5-8	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	1-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is withheld on the basis of Exemption (b)(6). The withheld material consist of names of DoD personnel. Release of the information could reasonably be expected to constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy of an individual mentioned in the redacted material, in that the individual would likely suffer negative repercussions if information identifying him or her were to be disclosed. The individual's privacy interest outweighs any public interest in disclosure. The information accordingly is exempt under Exemption (b)(6).	Exemption 6
SOUTHCOM 9-11	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	2-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(6). The withheld material consist of names of DoD personnel. Release of the information could reasonably be expected to constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy of an individual mentioned in the redacted material, in that the individual would likely suffer negative repercussions if information identifying him or her were to be disclosed. The individual's privacy interest outweighs any public interest in disclosure. The information accordingly is exempt under Exemption (b)(6).	Exemption 6
SOUTHCOM 12-14	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	3-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(5). The information is protected from release because it represents the assessment of U.S. military leadership in Honduras concerning the sensitive political dynamics of a politically unstable and rapidly changing country. The information is from the senior U.S. military leaders in Honduras to the military chain of command at U.S. Southcom. The information pertains to assessments concerning potential Honduran military courses of action and likelihood of resumed military-to-military engagement with Honduras. Releasing the information would have a predictable chilling effect on U.S. relations with Honduras and would jeopardize the free and frank exchange of information between USSOUTHCOM and its subordinate overseas components.	Exemption 5 (deliberative process privilege)
SOUTHCOM 15-16	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	4-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 17-18	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	5-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 19-20	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	6-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 21-22	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	7-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 23-24	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	8-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 25-26	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	9-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 27-29	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	10-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 30-32	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	11-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 33-34	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	12-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 35-37	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	13-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 38-40	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	14-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 41-43	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	15-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 44-46	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	16-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 47-49	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	17-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 50-52	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	18-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition. Additionally, this document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(D), which permits withholding of information release of which could reasonably be expected to disclose the identity of a confidential source.	Exemption 7D Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 53-55	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	19-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 56-58	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	20-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 59-61	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	21-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition. Additionally, this document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(D), which permits withholding of information release of which could reasonably be expected to disclose the identity of a confidential source.	Exemption 7D Exemption 7E

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 86-88	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	30-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition. Additionally, information was withheld under Exemption (b)(6). Release of this information would constitute an unwarranted invasion of the personal privacy of U.S. government personnel.	Exemption 6 Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 89-91	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	31-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(5). The information is protected from release because it represents the assessment of the U.S. Ambassador in Honduras concerning the sensitive political dynamics of a politically unstable and rapidly changing country. The information informed deliberations of the U.S. military leadership at USSOUTHCOM concerning potential military courses of action and likelihood of resumed military-to-military engagement with Honduras. Releasing the information would have a predictable chilling effect on U.S. relations with Honduras and would jeopardize the free and frank exchange of information between USSOUTHCOM and its subordinate overseas components. Additionally Exemption (b)(7)(E) permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 5 (deliberative process privilege) Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 92-93	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	1-Aug-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 94-96	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	2-Aug-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 97-99	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	3-Aug-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition. Additionally, information was withheld under Exemption (b)(6). Release of this information would constitute an unwarranted invasion of the personal privacy of U.S. government personnel.	Exemption 6 Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 100-102	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	4-Aug-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 103-105	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	5-Aug-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 106-108	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	6-Aug-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition. Additionally, information was withheld under Exemption (b)(6). Release of this information would constitute an unwarranted invasion of the personal privacy of U.S. government personnel.	Exemption 6 Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 109-111	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	7-Aug-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 112-114	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	8-Aug-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 115-117	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	9-Aug-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 118-120	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	10-Aug-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition. Additionally, information was withheld under Exemption (b)(6). Release of this information would constitute an unwarranted invasion of the personal privacy of U.S. government personnel.	Exemption 6 Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 121-123	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	12-Aug-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 124-126	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	13-Aug-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 127-128	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	16-Aug-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 129-130	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	22-Sep-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 131-132	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	23-Sep-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 133-134	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	24-Sep-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 135-136	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	26-Sep-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 137-138	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	27-Sep-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 139-140	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	29-Sep-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 141-142	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	30-Sep-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(5). This information identifies senior U.S. military leaders and U.S. military agencies actions and coordinations taken to identify and assess potential courses of action in a critical situation. The information is protected from release because it discusses pre-decisional military planning activities concerning potential military courses of action. Releasing the information would have a predictable chilling effect on U.S. relations with Honduras and would jeopardize the free and frank exchange of information between USSOUTHCOM and its subordinate overseas components. Additionally, Exemption (b)(7)(E) permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 5 (deliberative process privilege) Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 143-144	SITREP	MILGRP-Honduras Daily Sitrep	1-Oct-09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition.	Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 145-148	Intelligence Assessment	(S) Honduras: Who Authorized Zelaya's Removal from the Country?	16-Oct-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DoS; DIA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (b), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. Additionally information is withheld under Exemption (b)(6). The withheld material consist of names of DoD personnel. Release of the information could reasonably be expected to constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy of an individual mentioned in the redacted material, in that the individual would likely suffer negative repercussions if information identifying him or her were to be disclosed. The individual's privacy interest outweighs any public interest in disclosure. The information accordingly is exempt under Exemption (b)(6). The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding information properly classified under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. DIA also withheld the countries and international organizations which DIA shared intelligence with. The release of the countries that DIA shared this specific intelligence with could compromise intelligence sharing agreements we have with these governments and may hinder our relations with other nations which we did not share the intelligence with.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3 Exemption 6
							(Continuation) The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(b) and (d) of Executive Order 13256. Release of foreign government information provided in confidence, either voluntarily or by order of court, would cause foreign officials to believe that U.S. officials are not able or willing to observe the confidentiality expected in such interchanges. Governments could reasonably be expected to be less willing in the future to furnish information important to the conduct of U.S. foreign relations, and in general less disposed to cooperate with our government in the achievement of foreign policy objectives of common interest. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 149-151	Intelligence Assessment	(U) Honduras: National Elections	30-Oct-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DoS; DIA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (b), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. Additionally, information is withheld under Exemption (b)(6). The withheld material consist of names of DoD personnel and other foreign government information. Release of the information could reasonably be expected to constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy of an individual mentioned in the redacted material, in that the individual would likely suffer negative repercussions if information identifying him or her were to be disclosed. The individual's privacy interest outweighs any public interest in disclosure. The information accordingly is exempt under Exemption (b)(6). The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(b) and (d) of Executive Order 13256. Release of foreign government information provided in confidence, either voluntarily or by order of court, would cause foreign officials to believe that U.S. officials are not able or willing to observe the confidentiality expected in such interchanges. Governments could reasonably be expected to be less willing in the future to furnish information important to the conduct of U.S. foreign relations, and in general less disposed to cooperate with our government in the achievement of foreign policy objectives of common interest. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1 Exemption 6
SOUTHCOM 152-154	Intelligence Assessment	Who removed President Zelaya and Why?	Undated	SECRET	SOUTHCOM	DoS; DIA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding properly classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 155-158	Articles	(U) Honduras	Undated	UNCLASSIFIED	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 159-176	Slide Presentation	HND - Zelaya Heightens Political Tensions	Undated	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DoS; DIA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (b), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 177-220	Slide Presentation	Mission Analysis: Potential Support to DOS in Honduras	1-Jul-09	SECRET	SOUTHCOM	DoS; DIA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by hindering current and future plans and operations and would clearly place in jeopardy the safety of our troops as well of our allies. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertains to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1
SOUTHCOM 221-231	Joint Task Force Bravo Logs	Not Titled	From 4 Jul 09 to 9 Jul 09	UNCLASSIFIED	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(6). The withheld material consist of names of DoD personnel. Release of the information could reasonably be expected to constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy of an individual mentioned in the redacted material, in that the individual would likely suffer negative repercussions if information identifying him or her were to be disclosed. The individual's privacy interest outweighs any public interest in disclosure. The information accordingly is exempt under Exemption (b)(6).	Exemption 6
SOUTHCOM 232-251	Slide Presentation	Honduras "Zelaya Exile"	28-Jun-09	UNCLASSIFIED	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(3) and is exempted from disclosure by federal statute, specifically: 10 U.S.C. 130 to withhold unclassified technical data with the military or space application; 10 U.S.C. 130c to withhold certain sensitive information of foreign governments and international organizations. Additionally, Exemption (b)(6). The withheld material consists of names of DoD personnel. Release of the information could reasonably be expected to constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy of an individual mentioned in the redacted material, in that the individual would likely suffer negative repercussions if information identifying him or her were to be disclosed. The individual's privacy interest outweighs any public interest in disclosure. The information accordingly is exempt under Exemption (b)(6). Additionally information is withheld under Exemptions (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition. Other information is withheld from disclosure under Exemption (b)(7)(F), the withheld material consist of foreign government information. Release of the foreign government information could reasonably be expected to damage the relations between our government and our counterparts and could reasonably be expected to endanger the life of physical safety of any individual. The information accordingly is exempt under Exemption (b)(7)(F).	Exemption 3 Exemption 6 Exemption 7E Exemption 7F
SOUTHCOM 252-253	Points	San Jose 12-Point Accord	Undated	UNCLASSIFIED	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 254-272	Slide Presentation	Honduras (HND) PMSEII Overview	5-Aug-09	SECRET	SOUTHCOM	DoS; DIA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1), as this information pertains to foreign government information. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to our relations with a foreign government. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1), as this information pertains to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(b) of Executive Order 13256. Release of foreign government information provided in confidence, either voluntarily or by order of court, would cause foreign officials to believe that U.S. officials are not able or willing to observe the confidentiality expected in such interchanges. Governments could reasonably be expected to be less willing in the future to furnish information important to the conduct of U.S. foreign relations, and in general less disposed to cooperate with our government in the achievement of foreign policy objectives of common interest.	Exemption 1

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 273-275	Intelligence Assessment	(S) Honduras; San Jose Accords; Substance or Symbolic?	3-Aug-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DoS; DIA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities, intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, the details of a particular foreign operation, and diplomatic relations. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. Additionally information is withheld under Exemption (b)(6). The withheld material consist of names of DoD personnel and other foreign government information. Release of the information could reasonably be expected to constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy of an individual mentioned in the redacted material, in that the individual would likely suffer negative repercussions if information identifying him or her were to be disclosed. The individual's privacy interest outweighs any public interest in disclosure. The information accordingly is exempt under Exemption (b)(6). In addition, release of the foreign government information would cause damage between our government and our counterparts by directly affecting our diplomatic relations. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding and protecting under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) information that is properly classified. Additionally, the Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding under Exemption (b)(6) information that if released, would constitute an unwarranted invasion of the personal privacy of individuals who were the subject of an investigation. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1 Exemption 6
SOUTHCOM 276	Points	San Jose 12-Point Accord*	31-Jul-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 277	Condensed version of an Intelligence Report	Intelligence	25-Sep-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DoS; DIA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information; intelligence activities, intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods, would compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community, and could undermine diplomatic relations. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (b), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(b) and section 1.4(c). Release of this information could undermine both intelligence gathering and diplomatic relations. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1
SOUTHCOM 278	Condensed Bio on Major General Romeo Orlando Vasquez Velasquez	Major General Romeo Orlando VASQUEZ Velasquez Honduran	Jan-05	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document contains information that is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(6). The withheld material consist of names of DoD personnel. Release of the information could reasonably be expected to constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy of an individual mentioned in the redacted material, in that the individual would likely suffer negative repercussions if information identifying him or her were to be disclosed. The individual's privacy interest outweighs any public interest in disclosure. The information accordingly is exempt under Exemption (b)(6).	Exemption 6
SOUTHCOM 279	Condensed Bio on Major General Romeo Orlando Vasquez Velasquez	MG Romeo VASQUEZ Velasquez Chief of the Joint Staff (CHOD), Honduras	Jan 05	CONFIDENTIAL//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. The Department of State is withholding information under Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to a particular agency personality comment. The disclosure of this information could be expected to undermine diplomatic relations. The withheld portion of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. Release of foreign government information provided in confidence, either voluntarily or by order of court, would cause foreign officials to believe that U.S. officials are not able or willing to observe the confidentiality expected in such interchanges. Governments could reasonably be expected to be less willing in the future to furnish information important to the conduct of U.S. foreign relations, and in general less disposed to cooperate with our government in the achievement of foreign policy objectives of common interest.	Exemption 1

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 280-298	Slide Presentation	Honduras (HND) PMSEII Overview	1-Oct-09	SECRET	SOUTHCOM	DoS; DIA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1), as this information pertains to foreign government information. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to our relations with a foreign government. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1), as this information pertains to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(b) of Executive Order 13256. Release of foreign government information provided in confidence, either voluntarily or by order of court, would cause foreign officials to believe that U.S. officials are not able or willing to observe the confidentiality expected in such interchanges. Governments could reasonably be expected to be less willing in the future to furnish information important to the conduct of U.S. foreign relations, and in general less disposed to cooperate with our government in the achievement of foreign policy objectives of common interest.	Exemption 1
299-317							Error on page account. No documents missing within these 18 pages.
SOUTHCOM 318-325	Department of State telegram	Honduran Coup Timeline	022012Z JUL 09	UNCLASSIFIED//FOUO	Department of State	DOS	The Department of State (DoS) conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. The classification of this document was upgraded by DoS. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by releasing foreign government information provided in confidence, either voluntarily or by order of court. The release of this information would cause foreign officials to believe that U.S. officials are not able or willing to observe the confidentiality expected in such interchanges. Governments could reasonably be expected to be less willing in the future to furnish information important to the conduct of U.S. foreign relations, and in general less disposed to cooperate with our government in the achievement of foreign policy objectives of common interest. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. DoS considers the withheld portions of information within this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (b) and (d) of Executive Order 13256.	Exemption 1
SOUTHCOM 326-332	Open Source Document	FYI - Venezuela: Chavez Says Honduras	28-Jun-09	UNCLASSIFIED	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)
SOUTHCOM 333-372	Open Source Document	United States Southern Command Headline News	1-Jul-09	UNCLASSIFIED	SOUTHCOM		USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release)

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 373-382	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	14-Sep-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 383-392	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	15-Jul-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 393-400	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	14-Jul-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, STRATCOM	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(b) and (d) of Executive Order 13256. Release of foreign government information provided in confidence, either voluntarily or by order of court, would cause foreign officials to believe that U.S. officials are not able or willing to observe the confidentiality expected in such interchanges. Governments could reasonably be expected to be less willing in the future to furnish information important to the conduct of U.S. foreign relations, and in general less disposed to cooperate with our government in the achievement of foreign policy objectives of common interest. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 401-409	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	14-Aug-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA, NSA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; foreign government information; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains current and future operations, to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (b), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(b) and (d) of Executive Order 13256. Release of foreign government information provided in confidence, either voluntarily or by order of court, would cause foreign officials to believe that U.S. officials are not able or willing to observe the confidentiality expected in such interchanges. Governments could reasonably be expected to be less willing in the future to furnish information important to the conduct of U.S. foreign relations, and in general less disposed to cooperate with our government in the achievement of foreign policy objectives of common interest. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 410-413	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	13-Nov-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. The Department of State upgraded the classification of their information within this document. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. DoS considers the withheld portions of information within this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256.	Exemption 1

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 414-428	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	12-Aug-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, STRATCOM, USCG ICC	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c). In particular, the withheld information pertains to the oversight of intelligence activities (including special activities) and details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 429-436	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	13-Jul-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding information under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 437-449	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	13-Oct-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 450	Intelligence Quad Chart	Intelligence	25-Sep-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertains to foreign government information; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains current and future operations, to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (b), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c). Information pertains to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources or methods. In particular, the withheld information pertains to the oversight of intelligence activities and details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(b) and (d) of Executive Order 13256. Release of foreign government information provided in confidence, either voluntarily or by order of court, would cause foreign officials to believe that U.S. officials are not able or willing to observe the confidentiality expected in such interchanges. Governments could reasonably be expected to be less willing in the future to furnish information important to the conduct of U.S. foreign relations, and in general less disposed to cooperate with our government in the achievement of foreign policy objectives of common interest. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 451-461	Slide Presentation	Honduras Country Overview	Undated	UNCLASSIFIED	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release of responsive information)
SOUTHCOM 462-472	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	6-Jul-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, DEA, NSA, AFOSI	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding information under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 473-478	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	7-Jul-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). This information relates to intelligence assessments. Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 479-487	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	8-Jul-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 488-497	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	9-Jul-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA, ONI	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 498-507	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	3-Aug-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, ONI	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 508-519	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	5-Aug-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, ONI	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. Additionally, the document contains information protected by statute, 10 U.S.C. § 130b protects personal identifying information regarding any member of the armed forces assigned to an overseas unit, or a routinely deployable unit. The release of this information would constitute and unwarranted invasion of the personal privacy of U.S. government personnel and would not shed any light on the information requested. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 520-532	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	6-Aug-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, ONI	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. Additionally, we are protecting the release of the identity of a confidential source and disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigation or prosecutions under FOIA exemptions (b)(7)(D) and (b)(7)(E). The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3 Exemption 7D Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 533-540	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	7-Aug-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 541-550	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	8-Sep-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 551-561	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	2-Oct-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 562-575	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	5-Oct-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, STRATCOM	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 576-583	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	14-Oct-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c). In particular, the withheld information pertains to the oversight of intelligence activities and details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). This information relates to intelligence assessments. Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 584-592	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	15-Oct-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, DEA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 593-600	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	2-Nov-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). This information relates to intelligence assessments. Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 601-606	Intelligence Report	Intelligence Highlights	23-Nov-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256.	Exemption 1
SOUTHCOM 607-613	Intelligence Report	Intelligence Highlights	25-Nov-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA., DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 614-616	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	11-Dec-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. The Department of State upgraded the classification of their information within this document. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. DoS considers the withheld portions of information within this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding information under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. §424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 617-620	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	17-Dec-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding information under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. §424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure.	Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 621-625	Intelligence Report	Intelligence Highlights	17-Dec-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, STRATCOM	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256.	Exemption 1
SOUTHCOM 626-629	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	11-Jan-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, ONI	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 630-632	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	20-Jan-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertains to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources or methods and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(b) and (d) of Executive Order 13256. Release of foreign government information provided in confidence, either voluntarily or by order of court, would cause foreign officials to believe that U.S. officials are not able or willing to observe the confidentiality expected in such interchanges. Governments could reasonably be expected to be less willing in the future to furnish information important to the conduct of U.S. foreign relations, and in general less disposed to cooperate with our government in the achievement of foreign policy objectives of common interest. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 633-637	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	28-Jan-10	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release of responsive information)

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 638-643	Intelligence Report	Intelligence Highlights	22-Feb-10	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, FBI	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release of responsive information)
SOUTHCOM 644-648	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	26-Feb-10	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, STATE, ONI	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertains to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources or methods and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 649-660	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	1-Jul-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1
SOUTHCOM 661-668	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	31-Jul-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding information under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)). The National Geospatial Intelligence Agency information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods and human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) of Executive Order 13256.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 669-672	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	7-Dec-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertains to foreign government information; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (b), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(b) and (d) of Executive Order 13256. Release of foreign government information provided in confidence, either voluntarily or by order of court, would cause foreign officials to believe that U.S. officials are not able or willing to observe the confidentiality expected in such interchanges. Governments could reasonably be expected to be less willing in the future to furnish information important to the conduct of U.S. foreign relations, and in general less disposed to cooperate with our government in the achievement of foreign policy objectives of common interest. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 673-680	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	30-Oct-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA, FBI	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding information under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 681-684	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	9-Dec-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertains to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources or methods and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 685-690	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	22-Jan-10	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources, and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1
SOUTHCOM 691-695	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	1-Dec-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 696-706	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	30-Jul-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA, NORTHCOM	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)). The National Geospatial Intelligence Agency information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods and human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) of Executive Order 13256.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 707-717	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	29-Jul-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, ONI, NSA, FBI	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; foreign government information; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (b), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure; 10 U.S.C. 130b to withhold personally identifying information of personnel stationed overseas, in a sensitive unit, or in a readily deployable unit, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(b) and (d) of Executive Order 13256. Release of foreign government information provided in confidence, either voluntarily or by order of court, would cause foreign officials to believe that U.S. officials are not able or willing to observe the confidentiality expected in such interchanges. Governments could reasonably be expected to be less willing in the future to furnish information important to the conduct of U.S. foreign relations, and in general less disposed to cooperate with our government in the achievement of foreign policy objectives of common interest. Furthermore, the inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 718-730	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	28-Jul-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; foreign government information; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (b), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)). The National Geospatial Intelligence Agency information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods and human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) of Executive Order 13256.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 731-740	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	27-Jul-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; foreign government information; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (b), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)). The National Geospatial Intelligence Agency information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods and human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) of Executive Order 13256.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 741-750	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	24-Jul-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, ONI, NORTHCOM, EUCCOM	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 751-762	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	22-Jul-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NORTHCOM, EUCOM	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; foreign government information; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (b), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)). The National Geospatial Intelligence Agency information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods and human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) of Executive Order 13256.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 763-772	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	23-Jul-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)). The National Geospatial Intelligence Agency information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods and human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) of Executive Order 13256.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 773-782	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	21-Jul-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)). The National Geospatial Intelligence Agency information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods and human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) of Executive Order 13256.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 783-792	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	20-Jul-09	SECRET/NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. Additionally, this document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)). The National Geospatial Intelligence Agency information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods and human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) of Executive Order 13256.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3 Exemption 7 E

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 793-803	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	17-Jul-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 804-812	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	15-Jun-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding information under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 813-821	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	16-Oct-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c). In particular, the withheld information pertains to the oversight of intelligence activities and details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to information exempted from disclosure by section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)). The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 822-833	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	16-Sep-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, JTF-GTMO	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 834-838	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	17-Nov-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	CIA, CIA, DOS, NGA, ONI	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4(d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). This information relates to intelligence assessments. Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 839-843	Intelligence Report	Intelligence Highlights	2-Dec-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 844-854	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	18-Sep-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 855-865	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	31-Aug-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 866-875	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	20-Aug-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 876-888	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	30-Sep-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA, USCG ICC	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. Additionally, this document contains information that is protected from release under Exemption (b)(7)(E), which permits withholding of information release of which would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. By citing this exemption we're withholding "Force Protection Conditions." The Force Protection Condition is set daily by the combatant command and specifies, based on the current circumstances, the degree of threat, and therefore the corresponding measures that must be taken in response to threats to military facilities and personnel. Disclosing this information risks circumvention of the law by releasing information that could be used to thwart a Force Protection Condition. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)). The National Geospatial Intelligence Agency information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods and human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) of Executive Order 13256.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3 Exemption 7E
SOUTHCOM 889-897	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	20-Oct-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, FBI	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 898-902	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	20-Nov-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release of responsive information)

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 903-906	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	30-Nov-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods, and human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 907-917	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	30-Jun-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA, PACOM	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). This information relates to intelligence assessments. Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 918-926	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	21-Sep-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). This information relates to intelligence assessments. Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 927-937	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	29-Sep-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA, ONI, NSA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 938-945	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	21-Aug-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 946-957	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	9/29/2009	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA, USCG ICC, NGIC	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c). In particular, the withheld information pertains to the oversight of intelligence activities and details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)). The National Geospatial Intelligence Agency information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods and human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) of Executive Order 13256.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 958-962	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	23-Nov-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, ONI	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release of responsive information)
SOUTHCOM 963-973	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	28-Sep-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA, ONI	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c). In particular, the withheld information pertains to the oversight of intelligence activities and details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 974-984	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	28-Aug-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 985-991	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	28-Oct-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 992-998	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	23-Oct-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c). In particular, the withheld information pertains to the oversight of intelligence activities and details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. Exemption 3 also applies to certain information withheld under 10 U.S.C. 424, which was applied to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 999-1001	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	9-Nov-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). This information relates to intelligence assessments. Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 1002-1009	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	1-Sep-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 1010-1012	Intelligence Report	(U) Honduras: Significant Issues	5-Apr-05	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released.	None (Full Release of responsive information)

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 1013-1019	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	26-Jun-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 1020-1030	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	23-Sep-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NAIC, NGIC	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 1031-1039	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	26-Aug-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations, intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding information under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 1040-1049	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	24-Aug-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, JTF-GTMO	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c). In particular, the withheld information pertains to the oversight of intelligence activities and details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security.	Exemption 1
SOUTHCOM 1050-1060	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	25-Sep-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NSA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations; intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources; and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a), (c), and (d) of Executive Order 13256. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13256. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 1061-1072	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	25-Jun-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. The Defense Intelligence Agency is withholding classified information under Exemption (b)(1), section 1.4(c) and under Exemption (b)(3) information exempted from disclosure by federal statutes, namely the following: 10 U.S.C. 424 to withhold DIA employee names, office names/symbols, phone numbers, and similar information, the release of which would reveal DIA's organizational structure, and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)) for information pertaining to intelligence sources and methods. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 1073-1083	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	8/25/2009	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest.	Exemption 1

Page	Document Type	Title	Date	Classification	Agency	Consulting Agency	Description	Exemptions Claimed
SOUTHCOM 1084-1091	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	1-Oct-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, USCG ICC	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to current and future operations; to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources, and the details of a particular foreign operation. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Department of State information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to foreign government information and foreign relations or foreign activities of the United States, including confidential sources. The Department of State considers the withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (d) of Executive Order 13256. The inability of our government to maintain confidentiality in its diplomatic exchanges would inevitably chill relations with other governments, and could reasonably be expected to damage U.S. national security by diminishing our access to vital sources of information. Release of information revealing confidential sources reasonably could be expected to risk the safety of those confidential sources and will harm United States relations in the world regarding relations with other countries. Failure to preserve the expected confidentiality could risk future access not only to the sources of the withheld information, but also to other who might provide sensitive information to U.S. officials that is important to U.S. national security interest. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)).	Exemption 1 Exemption 3
SOUTHCOM 1092-1101	Intelligence Executive Highlights	Intelligence Executive Highlights	24-Sep-09	SECRET//NOFORN	SOUTHCOM	DIA, CIA, DOS, NGA	USSOUTHCOM has conducted a line-by-line review of this document and all reasonably segregable, non-exempt portions of this document are being released. This document is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to military plans, weapons systems, or operations and intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods, human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (a) and (c) of Executive Order 13256. The Central Intelligence Agency withheld certain information pursuant to Exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3). Exemption (b)(1) applies to certain information that is classified pursuant to Section 1.4(c) of Executive Order 13526. Disclosure of this information reasonably could be expected to damage national security because it would reveal information concerning intelligence activities such as sources or methods. Exemption (b)(3) also applies to certain information because the information must be withheld pursuant to section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3507 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403g) and section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, 50 U.S.C. § 3024 (formerly codified at 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1)). The National Geospatial Intelligence Agency information is withheld in part on the basis of Exemption (b)(1). Information pertaining to intelligence activities (including special activities), intelligence sources. In particular, the withheld information pertains to intelligence collection methods and human intelligence sources. The disclosure of this information could be expected to cause serious damage to the national security by revealing intelligence sources, methods and compromise the intelligence information collection mission effectiveness of the intelligence community. The withheld portions of this document are properly classified pursuant to section 1.4 (c) of Executive Order 13256.	Exemption 1 Exemption 3

Index of FOIA Exemptions Applied

63 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(a)	11 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(b)	82 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(c)	74 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(d)	170 Total Incidents of Exemption 3	3 Incidents of Exemption 5	13 Incidents of Exemption 6	43 Total Incidents of Exemption 7
Southcom 177-220 Southcom 373-382 Southcom 383-392 Southcom 393-400 Southcom 401-409 Southcom 429-436 Southcom 437-449 Southcom 464-472 Southcom 473-478 Southcom 479-487 Southcom 488-497 Southcom 498-507 Southcom 508-519 Southcom 520-532 Southcom 533-540 Southcom 541-550 Southcom 551-561 Southcom 562-575 Southcom 576-583 Southcom 584-592 Southcom 593-600 Southcom 601-606 Southcom 607-613 Southcom 621-625 Southcom 649-660 Southcom 661-668 Southcom 673-680 Southcom 696-706 Southcom 707-717 Southcom 718-730 Southcom 731-740 Southcom 741-750 Southcom 751-762 Southcom 763-772 Southcom 773-782 Southcom 783-792 Southcom 793-803 Southcom 813-821 Southcom 822-833 Southcom 839-843 Southcom 844-854 Southcom 855-865 Southcom 866-875 Southcom 876-888 Southcom 889-897 Southcom 907- 917	Southcom 145-148 Southcom 149-151 Southcom 254-272 Southcom 277 Southcom 280-298 Southcom 318-325 Southcom 401-409 Southcom 450 Southcom 630-632 Southcom 669-672 Southcom 707-717	Southcom 145-148 Southcom 149-151 Southcom 152-154 Southcom 159-176 Southcom 177-220 Southcom 254-272 Southcom 273-275 Southcom 277 Southcom 280-298 Southcom 373-382 Southcom 383-392 Southcom 393-400 Southcom 401-409 Southcom 414-428 Southcom 429-436 Southcom 437-449 Southcom 450 Southcom 464-472 Southcom 473-478 Southcom 479-487 Southcom 488-497 Southcom 498-507 Southcom 508-519 Southcom 520-532 Southcom 533-540 Southcom 541-550 Southcom 551-561 Southcom 562-575 Southcom 576-583 Southcom 584-592 Southcom 593-600 Southcom 601-606 Southcom 607-613 Southcom 621-625 Southcom 626-629 Southcom 630-632 Southcom 644-648 Southcom 649-660 Southcom 661-668 Southcom 669-672 Southcom 673-680 Southcom 681-684 Southcom 685-690 Southcom 696-706 Southcom 699-695 Southcom 696-706 Southcom 707-717	Southcom 145-148 Southcom 149-151 Southcom 152-154 Southcom 159-176 Southcom 177-220 Southcom 254-272 Southcom 273-275 Southcom 277 Southcom 279 Southcom 280-298 Southcom 318-325 Southcom 373-382 Southcom 383-392 Southcom 393-400 Southcom 401-409 Southcom 410-413 Southcom 429-436 Southcom 437-449 Southcom 450 Southcom 464-472 Southcom 473-478 Southcom 479-487 Southcom 488-497 Southcom 498-507 Southcom 520-532 Southcom 551-561 Southcom 562-575 Southcom 576-583 Southcom 584-592 Southcom 593-600 Southcom 614-616 Southcom 626-629 Southcom 630-632 Southcom 644-648 Southcom 649-660 Southcom 661-668 Southcom 669-672 Southcom 673-680 Southcom 681-684 Southcom 685-690 Southcom 696-706 Southcom 707-717 Southcom 718-730 Southcom 731-740 Southcom 741-750 Southcom 751-762	10 U.S.C. § 130 (1 Incident) Southcom 232-251 10 U.S.C. § 130b (2 Incidents) Southcom 508-519 Southcom 707-717 10 U.S.C. § 130c (1 Incident) Southcom 232-251 10 U.S.C. § 424 (39 Incidents) Southcom 145-148 Southcom 152-154 Southcom 159-176 Southcom 373-382 Southcom 383-392 Southcom 429-436 Southcom 462-472 Southcom 473-478 Southcom 479-487 Southcom 488-497 Southcom 498-507 Southcom 520-532 Southcom 533-540 Southcom 614-616 Southcom 617-620 Southcom 626-629 Southcom 630-632 Southcom 644-648 Southcom 661-668 Southcom 673-680 Southcom 681-684 Southcom 696-706 Southcom 707-717 Southcom 718-730 Southcom 731-740	Southcom 12-14 Southcom 89-91 Southcom 141-142	Southcom 5-8 Southcom 9-11 Southcom 77-79 Southcom 86-88 Southcom 97-99 Southcom 106-108 Southcom 118-120 Southcom 145-148 Southcom 149-151 Southcom 221-131 Southcom 232-251 Southcom 273-275 Southcom 278	Exemption 7(D) (3 Incidents) Southcom 50-52 Southcom 59-61 Southcom 520-532 Exemption 7(E) (39 Incidents) Southcom 47-49 Southcom 50-52 Southcom 53-55 Southcom 56-58 Southcom 59-61 Southcom 62-64 Southcom 65-67 Southcom 68-70 Southcom 71-73 Southcom 74-76 Southcom 77-79 Southcom 80-82 Southcom 83-85 Southcom 86-88 Southcom 89-91 Southcom 92-93 Southcom 94-96 Southcom 97-99 Southcom 100-102 Southcom 103-105 Southcom 106-108 Southcom 109-111 Southcom 112-114 Southcom 115-117 Southcom 118-120 Southcom 121-123 Southcom 124-126 Southcom 127-128 Southcom 129-130 Southcom 131-132 Southcom 133-134 Southcom 135-136 Southcom 137-138 Southcom 139-140

Index of FOIA Exemptions Applied

63 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(a)	11 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(b)	82 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(c)	74 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(d)	170 Total Incidents of Exemption 3	3 Incidents of Exemption 5	13 Incidents of Exemption 6	43 Total Incidents of Exemption 7
Southcom 918-926 Southcom 927-937 Southcom 938-945 Southcom 946-957 Southcom 963-973 Southcom 974-984 Southcom 985-991 Southcom 992-998 Southcom 1002-1009 Southcom 1013-1019 Southcom 1020-1030 Southcom 1031-1039 Southcom 1040-1049 Southcom 1050-1060 Southcom 1073-1083 Southcom 1084-1091 Southcom 1092-1101		Southcom 718-730 Southcom 731-740 Southcom 741-750 Southcom 751-762 Southcom 763-772 Southcom 773-782 Southcom 783-792 Southcom 793-803 Southcom 813-821 Southcom 822-833 Southcom 834-838 Southcom 839-843 Southcom 855-865 Southcom 866-875 Southcom 876-888 Southcom 889-897 Southcom 903-906 Southcom 918-926 Southcom 927-937 Southcom 938-945 Southcom 946-957 Southcom 963-973 Southcom 974-984 Southcom 985-991 Southcom 992-998 Southcom 1002-1009 Southcom 1013-1019 Southcom 1020-1030 Southcom 1031-1039 Southcom 1040-1049 Southcom 1050-1060 Southcom 1061-1072 Southcom 1073-1083 Southcom 1084-1091 Southcom 1092-1101	Southcom 773-782 Southcom 783-792 Southcom 793-803 Southcom 804-812 Southcom 813-821 Southcom 822-833 Southcom 834-838 Southcom 839-843 Southcom 855-865 Southcom 866-875 Southcom 876-888 Southcom 889-897 Southcom 903-906 Southcom 918-926 Southcom 927-937 Southcom 938-945 Southcom 946-957 Southcom 963-973 Southcom 985-991 Southcom 992-998 Southcom 999-1001 Southcom 1002-1009 Southcom 1013-1019 Southcom 1020-1030 Southcom 1050-1060 Southcom 1061-1072 Southcom 1073-1083 Southcom 1084-1091	Southcom 741-750 Southcom 751-762 Southcom 763-772 Southcom 773-782 Southcom 783-792 Southcom 793-803 Southcom 927-937 Southcom 938-945 Southcom 985-991 Southcom 1013-1019 Southcom 1020-1030 Southcom 1031-1039 Southcom 1050-1060 Southcom 1061-1072 50 U.S.C. § 3024(i) (67 Incidents) Southcom 373-382 Southcom 383-392 Southcom 393-400 Southcom 401-409 Southcom 414-428 Southcom 429-436 Southcom 437-449 Southcom 450 Southcom 462-472 Southcom 473-478 Southcom 479-487 Southcom 488-497 Southcom 498-507 Southcom 508-519 Southcom 520-532 Southcom 533-540 Southcom 541-550 Southcom 551-561 Southcom 562-575 Southcom 576-583 Southcom 584-592 Southcom 593-600 Southcom 607-613 Southcom 626-629 Southcom 661-668 Southcom 669-672 Southcom 673-680 Southcom 681-684			Southcom 141-142 Southcom 143-144 Southcom 232-251 Southcom 783-792 Southcom 876-888 Exemption 7(F) (1 Incident) Southcom 232-251

Index of FOIA Exemptions Applied

63 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(a)	11 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(b)	82 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(c)	74 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(d)	170 Total Incidents of Exemption 3	3 Incidents of Exemption 5	13 Incidents of Exemption 6	43 Total Incidents of Exemption 7
				Southcom 691-695 Southcom 696-706 Southcom 707-717 Southcom 718-730 Southcom 731-740 Southcom 741-750 Southcom 751-762 Southcom 763-772 Southcom 773-782 Southcom 783-792 Southcom 793-803 Southcom 804-812 Southcom 813-821 Southcom 822-833 Southcom 834-838 Southcom 839-843 Southcom 844-854 Southcom 855-865 Southcom 866-875 Southcom 876-888 Southcom 889-887 Southcom 903-906 Southcom 907-917 Southcom 918-926 Southcom 927-937 Southcom 938-945 Southcom 946-957 Southcom 963-973 Southcom 974-984 Southcom 992-998 Southcom 999-1001 Southcom 1002-1009 Southcom 1013-1019 Southcom 1020-1030 Southcom 1031-1039 Southcom 1050-1060 Southcom 1061- 1072 Southcom 1084-1091 Southcom 1092-1101 50 U.S.C. § 403(g) (63 Incidents) Southcom 373-382 Southcom 383-392 Southcom 393-400

Index of FOIA Exemptions Applied

63 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(a)	11 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(b)	82 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(c)	74 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(d)	170 Total Incidents of Exemption 3	3 Incidents of Exemption 5	13 Incidents of Exemption 6	43 Total Incidents of Exemption 7
				Southcom 401-409 Southcom 414-428 Southcom 429-436 Southcom 437-449 Southcom 473-478 Southcom 479-487 Southcom 488-497 Southcom 498-507 Southcom 508-519 Southcom 520-532 Southcom 533-540 Southcom 541-550 Southcom 551-561 Southcom 562-575 Southcom 576-583 Southcom 584-592 Southcom 593-600 Southcom 607-613 Southcom 621-625 Southcom 626-629 Southcom 630-632 Southcom 644-648 Southcom 649-660 Southcom 661-668 Southcom 669-672 Southcom 673-680 Southcom 681-684 Southcom 685-690 Southcom 691-695 Southcom 696-706 Southcom 707-717 Southcom 718-730 Southcom 731-740 Southcom 741-750 Southcom 751-762 Southcom 763-772 Southcom 773-782 Southcom 783-792 Southcom 793-803 Southcom 813-821 Southcom 822-833 Southcom 834-838 Southcom 839-843 Southcom 855-865 Southcom 876-888 Southcom 889-897

Index of FOIA Exemptions Applied

63 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(a)	11 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(b)	82 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(c)	74 Incidents of Classification Category 1.4(d)	170 Total Incidents of Exemption 3	3 Incidents of Exemption 5	13 Incidents of Exemption 6	43 Total Incidents of Exemption 7
				Southcom 903-906 Southcom 918-926 Southcom 938-945 Southcom 946-957 Southcom 963-973 Southcom 974-984 Southcom 992-998 Southcom 999-1001 Southcom 1002-1009 Southcom 1020-1030 Southcom 1031-1039 Southcom 1050-1060 Southcom 1084-1091 Southcom 1092-1101			